

Tutorial A4.2.1: Knowledge Settings

The screenshot displays the Scholar Publisher Admin interface. At the top, the browser address bar shows 'https://cgscholar.com/'. The navigation menu includes 'Community', 'Creator', 'Publisher', 'Analytics', 'Event', and 'Bookstore'. The user is logged in as 'William Cope'. The main content area shows the publisher information: 'Publisher: EPSY 408 SP19', 'Is Active: true', and 'Date: Sunday, December 23, 2018 12:34 PM'. Below this, there are 'Save' and 'New Metric' buttons. The 'Knowledge Metric Settings' tab is selected, showing a list of metrics with their respective weights and target values. Each metric has a 'Title Text', 'Legend Text', and 'Help Text' field.

Knowledge Metric Weights and Targets

- Average Text Quality Score Per Works
Weight %: 100 Target Value: 10
Title Text: Average Text Quality Score Per Work
Legend Text: Text Quality Project Works
Help Text: Improve this score by focusing on writing more substantially and thoughtfully.
- Average Peer Review Score Percentage Received
Weight %: 100 Target Value: 70
Title Text: Average Peer Review Percentage Score Received
Legend Text: Peer Review Rating
Help Text: You can improve this score by paying particular attention to cover all elements of the rubric.
- Average Self Review Score Percentage Received
Weight %: 100 Target Value: 70
Title Text: Average Self Review Percentage Score Received
Legend Text: Self Review Rating
Help Text: You can improve this score by paying particular attention to cover all elements of the rubric.
- Average Admin Review Score Percentage Received
Weight %: 100 Target Value: 70
Title Text: Average Instructor Review Percentage Score Received
Legend Text: Admin Review Rating
Help Text: You can improve this score by paying particular attention to cover all elements of the rubric.

A4.2.1 Knowledge Metrics

What knowledge measures do you expect to apply?

- Select check boxes to determine which metrics you wish to apply (whether or not this petal will appear in the aster plot).
- Select the weight you wish to assign to that metric (the width of that petal in the aster plot).
- Select a target value or learning objective (what it will take to color this petal to the circumference of the circle).
- Review and revise the standard text that appears in the petal mouseovers and the color-coded legend on the Analytics landing page.

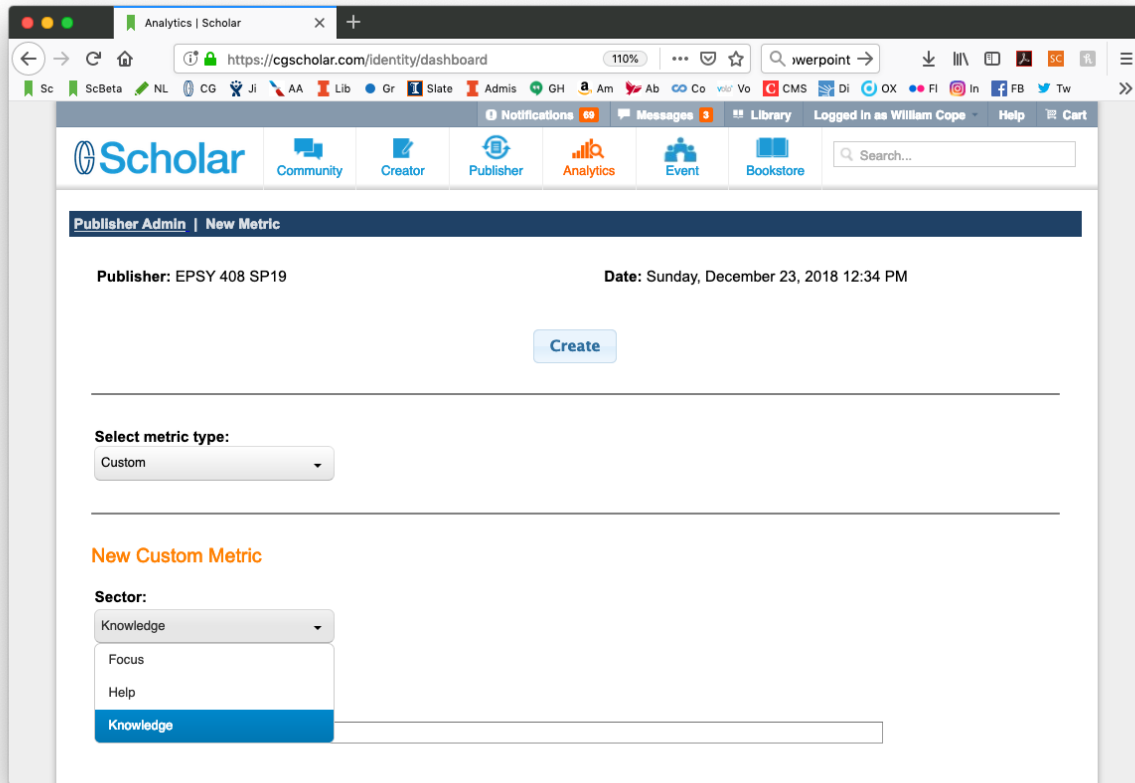

A4.2.2 Adding a Knowledge Survey

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL <https://cgscholar.com/identity/dashboard>. The page is titled "Publisher Admin | New Metric". The publisher is identified as "EPSY 408 SP19" and the date is "Sunday, December 23, 2018 12:34 PM". A "Create" button is visible. Below this, there is a "Select metric type:" dropdown menu with "Custom" selected. Underneath, the "New Custom Metric" section is shown, with a "Sector:" dropdown menu. The "Sector:" menu is open, showing options: "Knowledge", "Focus", "Help", and "Knowledge" (highlighted in blue).

- Select the [New Metric] option in the Admin Settings area.
- Select the Knowledge Survey option
- Locate the Survey among those you have created and that have been shared with you.

A4.2.3 Adding a Custom Metric

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL <https://cgscholar.com/identity/dashboard>. The page is titled "Publisher Admin | New Metric". At the top, there is a navigation bar with the Scholar logo and several menu items: Community, Creator, Publisher, Analytics, Event, and Bookstore. Below the navigation bar, the page displays the following information:

- Publisher: EPSY 408 SP19
- Date: Sunday, December 23, 2018 12:34 PM

Below this information is a blue "Create" button. Underneath the button is a "Select metric type:" dropdown menu with "Custom" selected. Below the dropdown menu is a "New Custom Metric" section with a "Sector:" dropdown menu. The "Sector:" dropdown menu is open, showing three options: Focus, Help, and Knowledge. The "Knowledge" option is highlighted in blue.

- Add metric of your own design.
- Select whether this metric is to appear in the Focus, Help or Knowledge sector of the aster plot.